Delayed Emotions

“It is very common for women to have a delayed reaction to an abortion (either surgical or chemical), varying from a few weeks to many years before any symptoms appear.”

-Dr. Wanda Franz, Ph.D. President of the Association for Interdisciplinary Research in Values and Social Change

“The so called ‘safe, simple procedures’ that were to allow me to live my life and go on, nearly ruined mine and many other lives instead.”

-Karen C.

“When I hold a friend’s baby, I grieve all over again. I feel great sadness that the world will never know the two children I aborted.”

-Linda Marie

There Is Help

EMOTIONAL, MEDICAL, LEGAL

If you need to talk, or would like more information, contact:

Bethesda, The House of Mercy
Northeast Ohio
www.bethesdahouseofmercy.org
1-800-482-4100

Carenet
800-395-4357
www.optionline.org

Life Dynamics (legal)
800-401-6494
940-380-8800
www.prolifearmerica.com

Rachel’s Vineyard Ministries
610-354-0555
www.rachelsvineyard.org

Silent No More Awareness
www.silentnomoreawareness.org

National Suicide Hotline:
800-784-2433

-Originally Published By
Wisconsin Right to Life, www.wrtl.org
Revised and Reprinted By
Lake County Right to Life 2/12

There Is Help

-Linda Marie

Why Does It Hurt?

“Physically I had no problem with my abortion, but emotionally I created a ‘living hell’ that continues on a daily basis.”

-Terri F.
Post Abortion Syndrome

What is It?
1. A condition in which abortion destroys the natural bond between parent and child, leaving the mother and father with a sense of incompleteness.
2. A conflict created within the woman between her role as nurturer and her role in the destruction of the life of her unborn child.
3. A denial of the grief and mourning which needs to be recognized and expressed by a woman for her aborted child.
4. A physically and emotionally debilitating condition which can impair a woman’s functioning and well-being individually, socially and within her family.
5. A conflict which other family members also experience about their roles after an abortion.

Who Suffers?
Anyone can. Men and women who have lost a child through abortion. Children and grandparents who have lost a sibling or grandchild through abortion.

There is Healing
“The reconciliation of Post Abortion Syndrome is impossible without the act of and belief in forgiveness...One of the mostly beautiful and profound transactions open to us, forgiveness cleanses, heals and strengthens.”

Reconciliation with others, the aborted child and self is possible through:
- PAS support groups
- Professional counseling
- Spiritual ministry

Dr. Vincent Rue, Ph.D.
Leading authority of PAS Institute of Pregnancy Loss

“ That sense of peace has brought with it, for me, real joy and new hope for the future.”

-Olivia G.